Twp. Votes To Hire Manager

'Model' Law Inspected By Officials

Commissioners Favor Strong Man With Broad Powers

The Bristol Township Board of Commissioners at a special meeting last night approved "in general" a plan to hire a township manager at a salary ranging between $9500 and $13,000.

Wayne Locke, chairman of the finance committee, who has been studying the proposal of a township manager presented at the International Association of Township Managers.

The "model" outlined the duties of the manager as administrator of all township business. Under the plan, which the commissioners accepted "as a starting point" the manager would supervise all municipal departments and have the power to hire and fire all personnel not under civil service.

The commissioners all seemed to favor a strong manager with broad powers. "If we are going to hire a qualified man we have to give him the proper tools to work with," several commissioners stated.

Choice Up To Board

Locke was instructed to work on drawing up the ordinance, advertise for applicants for the job and conduct preliminary interviews. The final choice of a township manager would be up to the full board of commissioners.

Locke refused to estimate how long it would take to hire a manager. "The success of this program depends on the ability of the first man we hire. We should take our time and make sure he is a good man," he said.

In other business an ordinance to approve the hiring of four civilians to operate the police radio was tabled. Several commissioners argued that the radio dispatchers should be hired under civil service regulations.

Harold Lefcourt, chairman of the Safety Committee, who proposed the move, argued that the civilians would be hired as a trial and it would be easier to drop the program if they were not covered by civil service.

"I think they should be included under civil service later on but not at first," Lefcourt said.

Commissioners Albert H. Rogers and Rudolph Kraus led the arguments for hiring the civilians immediately under civil service provisions.

Under Lefcourt's proposal the civilians would be paid $60 a week and would relieve the four patrolmen now handling the radio for street duty.

Approve Transfer

The commissioners also approved the transfer of $37,850 from various budget classifications to help meet the cost of the Croydon storm sewer now under construction and to purchase a new crane for the highway department.

Good Evening!

Draft, H-Bomb tests must continue, says the President.

And, he continues, there'll be no theatrical national gestures about this matter of life or death of a nation and the man's positively right.

Just one thing we don't want this political campaign to do. That is to weaken public confidence in national defense, or shatter world confidence in America's capacity to continue global leadership backed up by what it takes—armed strength.

Dodgers ahead again as they clobber the Cards 17-2 and the fabulous Newcombe wins his 25th.

You can say one thing: Brooklyn and the Braves are keeping baseball interest high even as the pigskins begin flying around the countryside.

Football weather all but here, incidentally, with autumn breathing down our necks and all ready to make its official debut Sunday.

Tonight? A full moon and frost on the mountain peaks. Chilly but pretty combination, come to think of it.

We wish the whole country would scuttle the sickening noise pronto. It makes you shiver to contemplate the low estate to which musical taste—and cultural taste—is falling.

Maybe TV, radio and the record companies should start a bit of self-disciplining and with it a campaign for a return to a standard of good taste. They don't HAVE TO CATER to the gutter instincts of the moronic fringe.

Twp. Again Rejects Bid By Builders

Plans For Homes In Laurel Bend Disapproved, 9-0

By GORDON PARKER

Courier and Times Staff Writer

On top of their past troubles with faulty sewage systems and irate home buyers, Bertram Rudy and August J. Hertwig, builders of Broadway Manor and Laurel Bend, Bristol Township, were stymied last night by a yet-to-be-passed law.

The builders, who received widespread publicity when four women picketing Laurel Bend were arrested and committed to prison last month, asked the township Board of Commissioners last night to approve sub-division plans for 65 more homes in the development.

And for the second straight week the commissioners refused to approve the plans. The board voted 9-0, with two members who worked on the projects, not voting, to hold up approval of all new sub-division plans until a new ordinance regulating sub-divisions is passed. The ordinance is now being drawn up.

this week's contest will be published.

Dog's Life Not So Bad, Now

The "tail" of the tiny canine urchin is not so long in length, but is long on appeal.

Tuesday morning, Sid Auerbach, an advertising man for the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times, found the whimpering youngster on his doorstep as he was taking his children to school.

Brought to the Courier and Times office, the feminine members of the staff lost their hearts to the little fellow. A collection was taken up and milk and food were provided for their guest.

His temporary home was a cardboard box, his bed was a newspaper. His obscure ancestry in question, it was generally agreed that he must surely be a "type-setter."

The wee visitor spent the day in the company of his new-found Courier and Times friends. Plans were drawn to run an advertisement for a new owner for the dog, but Mrs. Barbara Glover, society assistant, of 3465 Brownsville road, Treviso, asked that the furry creature be given to her for her three children.

Mrs. Glover said that her children, Norman, 6, Bruce, 4, and Carolyn, 3, "love the dog."

Named "Tippy" in honor of his given-breed, the little dog is approximately four-weeks-old. He's black and white with just a touch of brown about the eyes and feet, Mrs. Glover said.

"He cries all night," Mrs. Glover said, "but he's worth every ear-piercing shriek his tiny voice can give."

Tippy's "foster parents," Miss Joan Nevins, society editor; Miss Sheila Griffith, display advertising; Miss Carol Bender, national advertising; and Miss Jane Gray, society assistant; all faithfully promised to visit the dog and see to it that he never has to worry about losing his home again.

Acceptable Plan For Suez Neutrals Sought By West

LONDON — UP — The Western Big Three today gave a committee of experts the task of drawing up a plan for the Suez Canal Users Association that would be acceptable to the neutral nations.

The Big Three called back the original blueprint as a result of the critical reaction the plan received at Wednesday's opening session of the 18-member second London Suez conference.

Britain simultaneously gave an official cold shoulder to Soviet feelers for a Suez "summit" conference of the Big Four heads of state and the rulers of Egypt and India.

"Our attitude is that we are at present concerned with one conference in London and we propose to continue to do so," a Foreign Office spokesman said.

The decision to withdraw the original plan apparently was taken at a meeting this morning of the Big Three foreign ministers before this morning's 55-minute Suez conference began.

Pakistan rejected their plan outright as an unnecessary affront.

500 Picket The Press

Between 75 and 100 union men began "around the clock" picketing of the Levittown Press today following an early-morning mass demonstration of an estimated 500 persons.

Walter Barner, head of the striking printers members of Local 71, International Typographical Union, said the union "intends to keep picketing 24 hours a day."

At the same time he thanked members of a number of industrial and printing unions from Trenton, N.J., Philadelphia, Morrisville, Pa., and other nearby points for helping in today's mass demonstration and for assisting the 21 striking printers in maintaining the enlarged picket line.

The Tullytown police force led by Chief John Walterick was on hand to maintain order.

The printers have been out on strike since Aug. 13 in a contract dispute. The union charges a lockout.

A spokesman for the Press said the paper had asked for protection.

Twp. Violators Get A Break

Motorists who park their cars illegally got a break from the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners last night.

The board adopted a new policy where motorists with parking tickets can pay a $2 fine at the township building within 48 hours.

Under the old system the cases were handled by a justice of the peace and $5 costs added to the fine.

Commissioner Harold Lefcourt, chairman of the Safety Committee, who recommended the new system said it "seems unfair that motorists have to pay $7 or more for a $2 ticket."

If motorists fail to pay the fine within 48 hours the case will then be referred to a justice of the peace and the motorist can have a hearing if he wishes.

Penn Valley School Route Fight Erupts

Willowood Parents In Controversy With Falls Board

A controversy over the shortest route for pupils to the Penn Valley Elementary school erupted last night at the Penn Valley Parent-Teacher Association meeting.

Parents are arguing the merits of one route against an alternate route suggested by the Falls Township Board of Supervisors.

Irate parents of the Willowood section of Levittown, claiming their children have to walk to school in the street, were told of the alternate route by Supervisor Elder Hacker.

He claimed the alternate route is only 12 feet longer than along Milk Creek parkway. As Hacker pointed out, the walking route via the parkway is approximately 3,190 feet.

But by using the route from Willowood drive to Elderberry lane, then on Easter lane and back to Elderberry lane, a distance of 3,202 feet, the children could

Money Sought For Boost In Recreation

The Bucks County Park Board Monday night recommended that up to $15,000 of its funds be used to help Bristol borough and township improve the Silver Lake shores as a badly-needed recreation area for Lower Bucks County.

The funds must be approved by the Bucks County Commissioners, Park Board Chairman William F. Taylor said today. They would be given on an equal basis with borough and township funds, subject to approval of the plans by both county boards.

The borough and township are expected to match the county's offer up to $15,000.

He said the money would not be used to clean up the pollution, when he termed a State Health Department problem, but to create recreation facilities at the lake. The board will discuss the plan further at a meeting in Doylestown Monday night.

"I want to assure the people of the Bristol area that the Park Board is ready to help them build a good recreation area," Mr. Taylor said in announcing his board's action. "In my personal opinion, the Park Board should aid local communities whenever it is able to do so. Silver Lake is used today, and therefore it should be made a better place for recreation."

Plan County Park

The Park Board, with borough and township officials, since last Spring have been discussing a plan to create a vast County Park in the Silver Lake area, possibly extending up the Mill Creek Valley, a plan recommended by editorial comment in the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times.

Russell VanNest Black, planning consultant, was hired by the Park Board to map out a proposed park, and concluded that the project would not be practical. However, some members of the Board, and local officials still maintain the park should be built.

The Bucks County Commissioners this summer directed the County Health Department to trace the sources of pollution which has made the lake unsafe for swimming, and take action to stop the impurities.

Chairman John T. Welsh, of the County Commissioners, today said he has not yet been notified of the resolution adopted by the Park Board last night. But he said there are "still many legal questions to be answered" before the appropriation can be approved.

Ike Carries Farm Battle To Midwest

President Campaigns In Iowa On Record Of Prosperity

WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower carried his reelection fight into the crucial mid-west farm belt today. He opened his nationwide campaign here last night on a Republican record of "progress without precedent."

Mr. Eisenhower will spend this afternoon and most of tomorrow in Iowa, following up on his belief that government policies to meet farm problems must be tailored to peacetime conditions and "not the policies of the past that applied only to the demands of war-time."

Three Central Themes

The Chief Executive and the First Lady were scheduled to leave by plane this afternoon for Des Moines. A motorcade will take them to Boone, where they will spend the night in the house once occupied by Mrs. Eisenhower's grandmother and father. The Boone home is now the residence of Mrs. Eisenhower's uncle, Joel Carlson.

The president tomorrow will attend the national plowing contest at Newton, Iowa. He planned to make a speech at the Des Moines Airport during the late afternoon.

Wait Pays Off For Falls Twp. Police

Falls Township Police captured a suspect as he left the scene of a crime early this morning, according to Falls Township Chief Franklin Kirby.

Patrolmen George Mitchell and Edmund Brown, in making their routine rounds, noticed a broken window on the west side of the Mauro Motors showroom on Route 1 near Morrisville.

They investigated, but could find no sign of an entrant. As they were about to leave, one of the patrolmen noticed a strange car on the lot. After keeping the car under surveillance for about one hour, a man left the building. Upon apprehension, the man admitted taking $3 from the cash register.

He was taken to Falls Township Police headquarters where he was identified as William Alousis Stulz, 21, of 4738 Sheffield street, Philadelphia. He reportedly admitted he hid under a car in the garage, while the officers made their search.

Stulz will be charged with burglary this afternoon before Justice of the Peace John Melvin, Fallsington.

Rescue Squad Sets Record For Month

The Bucks County Rescue Squad set a new record for the number of cases handled in a 30-day period, between Aug. 19 and Sept. 18, it was announced at last night's meeting of the organization.

In the period just completed the squad handled 329 cases, the highest number in the 24-year history of the group. It breaks the record of 285 cases set from mid-June to mid-July of this year.

A breakdown of the emergency calls shows that the squad's five ambulances answered 215 calls, while the oxygen Jeep went out on 76 cases. In addition the emergency lighting truck was used seven times, and 17 persons were treated at the clinic in the squad's new headquarters.

Use Private Cars
The squad also reported that on three occasions private cars were used to carry oxygen equipment to patients when all the ambulances and the jeep were on the road.

The members spent a total of 1248 hours on the road in emergency service during the 30 days. In one of the more unusual cases handled by the group Brenda Carol Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Smith, 1213 Pennsylvania avenue, Croydon, was transported from Delaware Valley hospital to her home while in an incubator.

4 Teeners Hurt In Bucks Crash

Four teenagers suffered possible skull fractures and other injuries in an accident yesterday on Passer road, north of Richlandtown.

The teenagers, who are in "fair" condition in Quakertown's Community hospital, were injured when a car in which they were riding went out of control and crashed into a utility pole.

Injured were the driver, Michael Petrohoy, 17, of Bethlehem; Angelo Grello, 17, of Bethlehem; Carol Rice, 14, and her sister Mae, 17, both of Hellertown.

State Police of the Quakertown barracks, said the Petrohoy youth was operating too fast for conditions.

Classes Disrupted By Faulty Valve

A faulty pressure valve disrupted the class schedule at the Neshaminy junior and senior high schools yesterday and Tuesday. Classes were resumed at noon yesterday after the two schools were closed at noon Tuesday when a toilet overflowed and four inches of water flooded the boiler room.

SAFER TRESPASSING
NEW YORK—UP—Trespassing on railroad property was safer last year than ever before. Trains killed only one unauthorized track walker for every million locomotive miles.

21-Year-Old Levittowner Speaks Out On Sex Trend

A Levittown boy, 21-year-old Ronald K. Holliday of 1 Dubarry lane, speaks out against the modern trend toward the commercialization of sex. "There definitely is an overemphasis on physical sex and not enough emphasis on the other things that make up love," he says.

He voices his opinion at a round-table forum reported in the October Ladies' Home Journal. The topic, "Do Americans Commercialize Sex?" was discussed by a representative group including two mothers and four college students, including Ron Holliday, who has just graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and will be attending law school this fall.

He agrees that sex suggestiveness apparently sells but brakes should be put on it. He says, "You put people in an empty room, one by one. The more people get in that room, the louder you have to talk to be heard. This is what has happened. Sex is what they are screaming because they think that the louder they scream sex, the more money they'll make. And they won't stop until somebody puts some public pressure on them."

He adds, "To me, one of the greatest contributing factors to the problem is that we are living in a materialistic society. So we are blasé to the simple things which used to provide us with excitement and fun. We have a car, we can go anywhere we want to go. We have movies, we have television, we can do anything we want to. So we are seeking new thrills and we turn to the supreme thrill — sex."

Responsibility of Leaders

He points out that "young people of 12, 13 and 14 who really need answers won't discuss their sex problems with a minister — they want to find their confidants at home, in their parents." But he believes "it is also the responsibility of the leaders in the field of communications to carry on such education too — to set up higher standards of conduct for everybody."

Student Holliday received his B.A. degree in journalism in June. At Penn, he was in the

Steel Union Backs Adlai

LOS ANGELES — UP — Adlai Stevenson today had the support of the United Steelworkers of America in campaigning for the nation's highest office.

The union at its annual convention yesterday adopted a resolution to concur in the action of the AFL-CIO Executive Council in backing the Democratic team of Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

The resolution, which cited the union's traditional policy of political non-partisanship, was adopted by acclamation. It stated: "On the basis of the record, without endorsing either political party and in conformity with our traditional nonpartisan policy, we concur in the action of the executive council and the general board of the AFL-CIO in endorsing Adlai Stevenson for president and Estes Kefauver for vice president."

The action came shortly after Stevenson spoke to the 3000 delegates by telephone from Washington. The Democratic presidential nominee opened his message by saying "I ask your help to win."

Hood Named To Tax Group

HARRISBURG — UP — Gov. George M. Leader today announced the appointment of Clifford F. Hood, president of the U. S. Steel Corp., as a member of Pennsylvania's Tax Study Commission.

The governor said that Hood will replace Benjamin F. Fairless, former chairman of U.S. Steel, who recently submitted his resignation from the commission to become chairman of the Citizens Committee on Foreign Aid recently created by President Eisenhower.

"I am very sorry to lose the services of Mr. Fairless, but very happy to find as his successor such an outstanding industrialist," Leader said.

The governor said that Hood's appointment would maintain the bipartisan makeup of the commission with seven Republicans and seven Democrats.

Seeing Levittown

By JIM ORT

Levittown tots apparently are pleased about going to school. A group of youngsters on Old Spruce lane, Oaktree, after coming home from a long day at St. Michael the Archangel school, were playing of all things, "school," on a neighbor's patio.

Everybody today seems to want to do anything they can to combat juvenile delinquency and help our young ones. But what happened the other day when one of the Little League couldn't get a bit of cooperation from a group of township commissioners when it needed buses to take the kids to Philadelphia for a major league ball game?

According to lumber stores in the area the big thing this winter will be the paneling of walls in Levittown. Second popular seems to be room dividers.

Salesmen in local magazine stores affirm that Levittowners like to read about themselves. Whenever a magazine has an article about Levittown it sells well.

Crowd that turned out for Levittown Players open house at Fallsington Library Tuesday night had an unexpected treat when a group of Players put on an original one-act patriotic play written by Mrs. Clyde F. Brown.

Group Against Road Plan

The Fairfield Terrace Civic Association of Lower Makefield Township, went on record today as opposing the announced plan of the Pennsylvania Highway department to extend Route 13 to the Yardley - Morrisville road by entering the road at Pine Grove road.

The association resolved that the group urge the Highway Department to reconsider the location of Route 13, and to find an alternate route by-passing Yardley-Morrisville road west of Yardley, thereby avoiding congestion, traffic bottle-necks and excessive condemnation expense.

The association further resolved that the officers of the organization notify the Makefield Civic Association, the Bucks County Planning Board, the Pennsylvania Highway Department, governmental representatives, of this action urging them to make every effort to relocate Route 13.

The resolution was drawn at the unit's meeting Monday night. The association is made up of families in 40 homes located on the Yardley-Morrisville road.

A protest meeting of Lower Makefield Township civic organizations will be held tonight with the Township Planning Commission to hear details of the state's proposed extension of the Route 13 freeway.

The groups are expected to protest the road on the grounds that it would overburden township roads and lower property values.

'Summit' Plan

to Egypt. Several other nations were doubtful about it and such shipping countries as Norway, Sweden, and Denmark suggested the whole issue go to the United Nations.

The original plan called for an association which would have its own pilots and move its own ships through the Suez Canal independently of Egypt and Egyptian occupation of the canal facilities.

Opposition came at once and the West began toning it down.

Egypt declared it was an "association for war." Western pilots called it impracticable. The Scandinavian countries expressed serious doubts it would work. Opposition was so great the West feared its stand against Egypt would be weakened.

Ready to Sound

Bristol Borough Fire Chief Clifford Hagerman tests the equipment that will sound the whistle Saturday for Mill Street's "Beat the Clock" Contest. The Mill Street merchants are offering prizes to people who guess the correct time when the whistle will sound. "Beat the Clock" days are Thursday, Friday and Saturday on Mill Street.

Building Plans Rejected 2nd Time

who charged that Rudy and Hertwig had not lived up to "their obligations."

Kehoe said after complaints from residents of Broadway Manor and Laurel Bend, the builders had promised to make certain repairs. But Kehoe added the repairs were either unsatisfactory or not made. "I don't think we should allow these men to do any more building until they show they can live up to their obligations."

The builders had presented their plans at the regular commissioners' meeting last week but a number of residents from both communities protested conditions around their homes. The commissioners delayed approval of the plans and a committee, with Kehoe as chairman, was appointed to investigate the complaints.

Last night Kehoe stated that the builders had told the committee they would lower a drainage ditch by about two feet but instead had made it 10 to 14 feet deep.

Pump Not Hooked Up

Also Kehoe said a permanent pump at a sewage pumping station had not been hooked up as of last Sunday despite promises of the builders that it would be.

He was joined by Commissioner Albert H. Rogers who said he was not satisfied with the improvements at Broadway Manor. Last month Broadway residents had complained that their septic tanks were overflowing and toilet backing-up because of improper drainage. It was because of these complaints that the residents picketed Laurel Bend. The picketing ended when the builders had four women arrested, who were held overnight in the county prison when they were unable to raise $500 bail.

The builders and residents reached an agreement under which the drainage complaints would be corrected. Workmen have been adding additional drain fields and making other changes since then.

At Township's Request

In answer to Kehoe's charges Rudy said the ditch was dug at the township's request and according to township's specifications.

Elbert Kohli, chairman of the subdivision committee, said it was unnecessary to hold up approval of the plans until the new ordinance is passed. He said most of the conditions stated in the law would be covered in the contract between the builders and township.

Commissioner Kohli admitted that he did the electrical work, under a sub-contract on both the Broadway Manor and Laurel Bend developments. "A man has a right to earn a living and if we hold up these builders a lot of township residents will be without a job," Kohli said.

In the end Kohli voted with the rest of the group to delay approval of the plans. Commissioners Rudolph Kraus, who laid the streets in both developments, and James T. Dunlavey, an employee of Kohli's who worked in both projects, abstained from voting.

White House Eases Homebuilding Laws

WASHINGTON — UP — The White House today announced four new government actions to strengthen the homebuilding industry and make it easier to buy low cost homes.

The action was by government home financing agencies in response to President Eisenhower's request for a review of housing credit needs in the United States. The four new actions were:

1. The Federal Housing Administration reduced minimum down payment on homes appraised at $9,000 or less from seven to five per cent of value. An administration action of July, 1955, boosted the payments on such homes from five to seven per cent of value. Current down payment requirements remain for FHA home loans above $9,000. Under the new action, buyers of low-cost homes will pay about $180 less in down payment.

500 Picket

tion from state and Bucks County police.

John Stevenson, 27, of 350 Harrison street, Bristol, a picket filed assault and battery by automobile charges against James J. Maloney, Jr., of 14 Mackintosh road, Levittown, a pressman.

Stevenson claims that Maloney ran over his left foot with his car as he entered the plant 8 a.m. today. Stevenson was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital where X-rays were taken. The X-rays showed no injury.

Constable Ray Fate entered the Evening Press building to serve the warrant on Maloney around noon today but couldn't find him.

Earlier he had served a warrant on Paul V. Boos, of 7 Clover lane, Levittown, comptroller of the firm, on a charge of assault and battery. The charge was sworn out by Joseph Ershum, of 19 Overbrook drive, who said Boos tore his clothes as he walked through the picket lines this morning.

Boos was committed to Bristol Borough jail to wait a hearing before JP Earl B. Dougherty, of Edgely.

Sheriff Murray and his deputy, Lovedon Harrison, entered the plant and stayed for over an hour. He wouldn't say what he was doing when he came out, however.

Constable Malcolm MacKenzie arrested Frank Shields, Pineville road, Wycombe, advertising manager, on a charge of disorderly conduct filed by Roy Stanley, of 111 Kenwood drive, North Levittown, JP James Parto issued the warrant.

Shields protested the arrest. He said "I'm an executive of this firm. My position is inside the plant. I tried peacefully to enter in an orderly manner and was blocked."

2. Sellers of home mortgages to the Federal National Mortgage Association must buy the association's stock at only one per cent of value of mortgages sold. The stock purchase requirement, already lowered from three to two per cent Aug. 9, is now reduced to the legal minimum. Thus cash proceeds from mortgage sales to FNMA "secondary market" will be increased, providing more funds to homebuilders and buyers.

3. The FNMA will issue advance commitments to buy home mortgages at prices more favorable to the seller. These ease advance construction planning by assuring builders they can place mortgages with FNMA if they cannot obtain satisfactory financing elsewhere. FNMA will buy mortgages at 94 per cent under the new action, instead of the previous 92 per cent.

4. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board relaxed its rule limiting ordinary borrowings of member institutions of the home loan bank system to 10 per cent of their share capital. This limitation was raised to 12½ per cent "to improve the capacity of local home-financing institutions to meet the demand for sound home mortgage loans."

Morrisville Well To Get Trial Run

The Borough well in Morrisville will be put back into operation for a 30-day trial.

That was the decision of the Borough Council's water committee meeting last night, Borough Secretary Bob Steward said.

The water will be run back into the system from the well, and a chemical analysis of the water will be made daily, along with a complete record of every phase of the operation, Mr. Steward said.

Trevoze Hall To Open Sunday

Assumption BVM Church Sets Dance

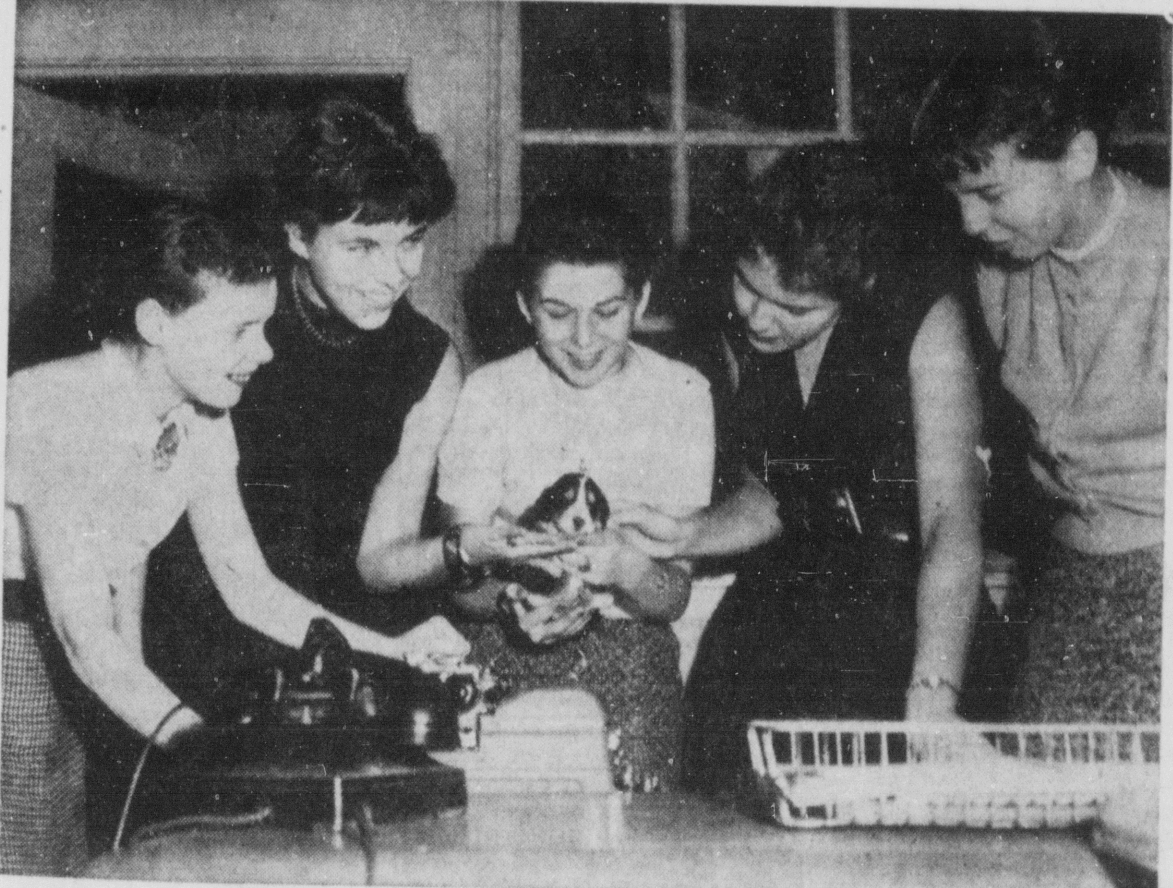

Mannarella TV Band To Perform At Ceremonies

Grand opening of the multi-thousand dollar Assumption BVM Hall, Trevoze Heights, is set for 8 p.m. Sunday, when the new structure is expected to "rock" to the music of Tony Mannarella and his TV Bandstand.

The hall, located in the basement of the new Assumption BVM Catholic Church, Meadowbrook avenue and Bristol road, will be the scene of weekly dances, it was announced today.

Mannarella, who produces the Bandstand program over WFIL-TV will bring his group of dancing youngsters, it was reported. The event is expected to be the biggest dance to ever hit the Trevoze area, a church spokesman said.

Dog's Life Not So Bad, Now

The "tail" of the tiny canine urchin is not so long in length, but is long on heart.

Tuesday morning, Sid Auerbach, an advertising man for the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times, found the whimpering youngster on his doorstep as he was taking his children to school.

Brought to the Courier and Times office, the feminine members of the staff lost their hearts to the little fellow. A collection was taken up and milk and food were provided for their guest.

His temporary home was a cardboard box, his bed was a newspaper. His obscure ancestry in question, it was generally agreed that he must surely be a "type-setter."

The wee visitor spent the day in the company of his new-found Courier and Times friends. Plans were drawn to run an advertisement for a new owner for the dog, but Mrs. Barbara Glover, society assistant, of 3465 Brownsville road, Trevoze, asked that the furry creature be given to her for her three children.

Mrs. Glover said that her children, Norman, 6, Bruce, 4, and Carolyn, 3, "love the dog." Named "Tippy" in honor of his given-breed, the little dog is approximately four-weeks-old. He's black and white with just a touch of brown about the eyes and feet, Mrs. Glover said.

"He cries all night," Mrs. Glover said, "but he's worth every ear-piercing shriek his tiny voice can give."

Tippy's "foster parents," Miss Joan Nevins, society editor; Miss Sheila Griffith, display advertising; Miss Carol Bender, national advertising; and Miss Jane Gray, society assistant; all faithfully promised to visit the dog and see to it that he never has to worry about losing his home again.

Money Sought For Boost In Recreation

The Bucks County Park Board Monday night recommended that up to $15,000 of its funds be used to help Bristol borough and township improve the Silver Lake shores as a badly-needed recreation area for Lower Bucks County.

The funds must be approved by the Bucks County Commissioners, Park Board Chairman William F. Taylor said today. They would be given on an equal basis with borough and township funds, subject to approval of the plans by both county boards.

The borough and township are expected to match the county's offer up to $15,000.

He said the money would not be used to clean up the pollution, when he termed a State Health Department problem, but to create recreation facilities at the lake. The board will discuss the plan further at a meeting in Doylestown Monday night.

"I want to assure the people of the Bristol area that the Park Board is ready to help them build a good recreation area," Mr. Taylor said in announcing his board's action. "In my personal opinion, the Park Board should aid local communities whenever it is able to do so. Silver Lake is used today, and therefore it should be made a better place for recreation."

The Park Board, with borough and township officials, since last Spring have been discussing a plan to create a vast County Park in the Silver Lake area, possibly extending up the Mill Creek Valley, a plan recommended by editorial comment in the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times.

Russell VanNest Black, planning consultant, was hired by the Park Board to map out a proposed park, and concluded that the project would not be practical. However, some members of the Board, and local officials still maintain the park should be made.

The Bucks County Commissioners this summer directed the County Health Department to trace the sources of pollution which has made the lake unsafe for swimming, and take action to stop the impurities.

Chairman John T. Welsh, of the County Commissioners, today said he has not yet been notified of the resolution adopted by the Park Board last night. But he said there are "still many legal questions to be answered" before the appropriation can be approved.

Western Powers Discuss Bulganin 'Summit' Proposal

LONDON — UP — The three Western foreign ministers met today in advance of the 18-nation Suez conference, and it was reported they were discussing Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's proposal for a new "Summit" meeting with Egypt and India.

Informed sources said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau also discussed means of lining up support from wavering neutrals for their Suez users association plan.

The Big Three meeting preceded the regular Suez meeting.

Bulganin yesterday suggested a meeting at Geneva between the heads of state of Britain, the United States, France, the Soviet Union and Egypt and India to discuss the Suez crisis. The Western powers were known to be cool to the idea.

Seek More Supporters

Informed sources said the United States would not be expected to agree to such a meeting during an election year, and it was doubted Prime Minister Anthony Eden would agree to sit across (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

500 Picket The Press

Between 75 and 100 union men began "around the clock" picketing of the Levittown Press today following an early-morning mass demonstration of an estimated 500 persons.

Walter Barner, head of the striking printers members of Local 71, International Typographical Union, said the union "intends to keep picketing 24 hours a day."

At the same time he thanked members of a number of industrial and printing unions from Trenton, N.J., Philadelphia, Morrisville, Pa., and other nearby points for helping in today's mass demonstration and for assisting the 21 striking printers in maintaining the enlarged picket line.

The Tullytown police force led by Chief John Walterick was on hand to maintain order.

The printers have been out on strike since Aug. 13 in a contract dispute. The union charges a lockout.

A spokesman for the Press said the paper had asked for protection from state and Bucks County police.

Motorists who park their cars illegally got a break from the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners last night.

The board adopted a new policy where motorists with parking tickets can pay a $2 fine at the township building within 48 hours.

Under the old system the cases were handled by a justice of the peace and $5 costs added to the fine.

Commissioner Harold Lefcourt, chairman of the Safety Committee, who recommended the new system said it "seems unfair that motorists have to pay $7 or more for a $2 ticket."

If motorists fail to pay the fine within 48 hours the case will then be referred to a justice of the peace and the motorist can have a hearing if he wishes.

L. S'hampton Curfew Plan Draws Debate

Trevoze Heights Squad Concerned Over Young Members

Concern over the proposed teenage curfew in Lower Southampton Township marked debate at this week's meeting of the Trevoze Heights Rescue Squad.

The question raised was whether junior members of the squad, who would be effected by the curfew, would be able to be dispatched on rescue and emergency work after 10 p.m.

The curfew, if passed, would require all boys and girls 17 and younger to be off township streets by 10 p.m. The new ordinance is under serious consideration by the township supervisors.

Some squad members felt the young recruits should be allowed out, but others differed with this opinion.

John Estlow, Oakford justice of the peace, when asked to advise the squad, said he believed an exception would be made in the case of the junior squad members, it was reported.

Valley Council President Named

PHILADELPHIA — UP — John H. Reiners, a Camden, N.J., attorney, took over as president today of the Delaware Valley Council, a research and planning coordinating agency.

Wait Pays Off For Falls Twp. Police

Falls Township Police captured a suspect as he left the scene of a crime early this morning, according to Falls Township Chief Franklin Kirby.

Patrolmen George Mitchell and Edmund Brown, in making their routine rounds, noticed a broken window on the west side of the Mauro Motors showroom on Route 1 near Morrisville.

They investigated, but could find no sign of an entrant. As they were about to leave, one of the patrolmen noticed a strange car on the lot. After keeping the car under surveillance for about one hour, a man left the building. Upon apprehension, the man admitted taking $3 from the cash register.

He was taken to Falls Township Police headquarters where he was identified as William Alousis Stulz, 21, of 4738 Sheffield street, Philadelphia. He reportedly admitted he hid under a car in the garage, while the officers made their search.

Stulz will be charged with burglary this afternoon before Justice of the Peace John Melvin, Fallsington.

Ike Carries Farm Battle To Midwest

President Campaigns In Iowa On Record Of Prosperity

WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower carried his reelection fight into the crucial mid-west farm belt today. He opened his nationwide campaign here last night on a Republican record of "progress without precedent."

Mr. Eisenhower will spend this afternoon and most of tomorrow in Iowa, following up on his belief that government policies to meet farm problems must be tailored to peacetime conditions and "not the policies of the past that applied only to the demands of war-time."

Three Central Themes

The Chief Executive and the First Lady were scheduled to leave by plane this afternoon for Des Moines. A motorcade will take them to Boone, where they will spend the night in the house once occupied by Mrs. Eisenhower's grandmother and father. The Boone home is now the residence of Mrs. Eisenhower's uncle, Joel Carlson.

The president tomorrow will attend the national plowing contest at Newton, Iowa. He planned to make a speech at the Des Moines Airport during the late afternoon (Continued on Page 3, Col. 8)

Burlington Joke Ruled 'Not Funny'

A practical joke played in Burlington Tuesday was ruled not funny by a Burlington County judge.

John James, of Rancocas and John T. Bozarth, Springside place, Burlington, were arrested Tuesday after Walter Michaels, Mills street, complained he had left his car parked for a short time and someone had taken two crates of chickens from his trunk. Mr. Michaels said he had just bought the chickens.

The two men were identified and they told police they had taken the chickens as a "practical joke," but police decided the joke wasn't funny when they learned that the chickens had been divided 50-50 in the men's homes.

The men were freed under $100 bail each pending a hearing on petty larceny charges.

SAFER TRESPASSING

NEW YORK—UP—Trespassing on railroad property was safer last year than ever before. Trains killed only one unauthorized track walker for every million locomotive miles.

21-Year-Old Levittowner Speaks Out On Sex Trend

A Levittown boy, 21-year-old Ronald K. Holliday of 1 Dubarry lane, speaks out against the modern trend toward the commercialization of sex. "There definitely is an overemphasis on physical sex and not enough emphasis on the other things that make up love," he says.

He voices his opinion at a round-table forum reported in the October Ladies' Home Journal. The topic, "Do Americans Commercialize Sex?" was discussed by a representative group including two mothers and four college students, including Ron Holliday, who has just graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and will be attending law school this fall.

He agrees that sex suggestiveness apparently sells but bristles should be put on. He says, "You put people in an empty room, one by one. The more people get in that room, the louder you have to talk to be heard. This is what has happened. Sex is what they are screaming because they think that the louder they scream sex, the more money they'll make. And they won't stop until somebody puts some public pressure on them."

He adds, "To me, one of the greatest contributing factors to the problem is that we are living in a materialistic society. So we are blase to the simple things which used to provide us with excitement and fun. We have a car, we can go anywhere we want to go. We have movies, we have television, we can do anything we want to. So we are seeking new thrills and we turn to the supreme thrill—sex."

Responsibility of Leaders

He points out that "young people of 12, 13 and 14 who really need answers won't discuss their sex problems with a minister—they want to find their confidants at home, in their parents." But he believes "it is also the responsibility of the leaders in the field of communications to carry on such education too—to set up higher standards of conduct for everybody."

Student Holliday received his B.A. degree in journalism in June. At Penn, he was in the Mask and Wig theatrical show.

Negro Pupils Plan 'Boycott'

STURGIS, Ky. — UP — Eight Negro children, barred from the all-white Sturgis High School by the board of education, were expected to "boycott" today a nearby all-Negro school.

An attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People considered requesting a federal court injunction to force integration at the all-white school.

The Negroes were turned back and told to go to Dunbar High School at Morgantown, Ky., when they arrived for classes yesterday.

A crowd of some 350 white townspeople jeered and applauded after Principal H. Earl Evans read the school board order prohibiting the Negroes from attending classes.

Students Return

White students, who boycotted the school Monday and Tuesday at the suggestion of White Citizens Council leaders, began returning as soon as the Negroes left. Enrollment reached 701 out of a total of 1,120 yesterday and was expected to be near normal today.

Mrs. Haymes' Protege To Debut

Johnny Traver, a protege of Marguerite Haymes, who conducts a dramatic and voice studio in New York and New Hope, has scheduled an engagement tomorrow evening at the Black Bass Hotel in Lumberville, Pa., from 9:30 p.m. to 2 a.m.

This will be the first appearance of Mr. Traver under the personal management of Mrs. Haymes, who is the mother of singer Dick Haymes.

social chairman of his fraternity (Lambda Chi Alpha) and in the pre-law society.

Steel Union Resolution Backs Adlai

LOS ANGELES — UP — Adlai Stevenson today had the support of the United Steelworkers of America in campaigning for the nation's highest office.

The union at its annual convention yesterday adopted a resolution to concur in the action of the AFL-CIO Executive Council in backing the Democratic team of Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

The resolution, which cited the union's traditional policy of political non-partisanship, was adopted by acclamation. It stated:

"On the basis of the record, without endorsing either political party and in conformity with our traditional nonpartisan policy, we concur in the action of the executive council and the general board of the AFL-CIO in endorsing Adlai Stevenson for president and Estes Kefauver for vice president."

The action came shortly after Stevenson spoke to the 3000 delegates by telephone from Washington. The Democratic presidential nominee opened his message by saying "I ask your help to win."

The appeal was answered over the telephone by union President David J. McDonald who declared:

Squad, Army Aid Woman

Prompt teamwork by the Bristol Emergency squad and the U.S. Army made the precious gift of life-saving blood available to a Bristol woman Tuesday night.

Miss Angela Musculo, 903 Jefferson street, Bristol, who suffers from an anemia condition, was scheduled to undergo an operation at Women's Osteopathic hospital, Philadelphia.

A call was put in to the Bristol Emergency squad from the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing plant, where Miss Musculo is employed. Mrs. Shirley Hogarth received the call and the wheels began to churn.

The emergency squad rushed to the Nike Base in Bristol and four volunteers from the 507th AAA Battery answered the call. The lads were Pfc. William Funk, Pfc. George Stoltz, Pvt. Donald Reyes and Pvt. Anthony Ciabattini.

The four soldiers were ready to donate the blood should Miss Musculo's condition warrant it.

Organizations Asked to Back Rescue Unit

Possible purchase of a piece of equipment for the Trevoze Heights Rescue Squad was announced today by the Feasterville Optimist club, which also issued a call to other organizations and individuals to give support and buy equipment for the squad.

School Plans In Bensalem Progressing

Robert K. Shafer, superintendent of the Bensalem schools, said today that progress on the construction of the new Samuel K. Faust Elementary school and plans for the construction of a new junior high school were progressing "smoothly."

The top soil of the elementary school ground has been stripped off and the area has been completely laid out. As soon as the reinforcement bars are secured, which should take place within a month, excavation will begin. Concrete can then be poured for the foundation. "After that," Mr. Shafer said, "it's just a matter of time."

Present Plans

Present plans call for completion and occupancy of one wing by September, 1957. The second wing should be completed shortly thereafter, possibly by November, Mr. Shafer said.

The new elementary school will have facilities for 600 students upon completion.

As for the proposed $1,250,000 junior high school, Mr. Shafer said, "We're just waiting the go-ahead from Harrisburg. An inspection team will be down within 20 days to survey our population and enrollment needs."

"I feel they can't say anything but yes, but I might be a little biased," Mr. Shafer said.

Mr. Shafer said plans for the new school will take six months to complete. Construction should run between 12 and 15 months.

"January, 1958 is our goal for the junior high school," the superintendent added.

Kelly To Stay In Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — UP — Congressional Medal of Honor winner Charles E. (Commando) Kelly appeared today on a nationwide television quiz show in New York after making his decision to remain in Louisville rather than accept a job at his hometown of Pittsburgh.

Kelly said Wednesday night that he and his family of six children will stay "right here with our friends who have helped us."

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners at Pittsburgh offered Kelly a government job in Pennsylvania earlier this week, but the World War II hero sent a telegram to Commissioner John A. Walker informing him "we have decided to remain in Louisville, but we will always have deep respect and warm memories for you and the people of Allegheny County."

Kelly, who killed 40 Nazis in a 24-hour period during the Italian campaign, has been ill, unemployed and in debt here since he came from Pittsburgh in 1955.

Protest Meeting On Road Is Set

A protest meeting of Lower Makefield Township civic organizations will be held tonight with the Township Planning Commission to hear details of the state's proposed extension of the Route 13 freeway.

The freeway would be extended two miles to the intersection of Yardley and Sutphin roads.

The groups are expected to protest the road on the grounds that it would overburden township roads and lower property values.

Conduct Charge Brings Jail Term

Louis Beatress, 33, of Philadelphia, was committed to Bucks County prison yesterday on a disorderly conduct charge.

Beatress was sentenced to ten days by Justice of the Peace James Parto, Tullytown.

James McIntosh, 32, of Trenton, was also committed on a desertion charge and on being a fugitive from justice.

The Feasterville organization will decide at its next board of directors' meeting whether the proposed purchase will be made. The club has not disclosed the cost or type of equipment.

This action was prompted by a speech to the Optimist club this week by Edward Rafferty, chief of the Trevoze Heights rescue men. Mr. Rafferty explained the squad's work and took the Optimists on a tour of squad headquarters.

"The Optimist Club feels this group of volunteer workers should be commended for their outstanding work and for doing so much for so little," said Jack LaBold, publicity director for the Feasterville club.

"As many of the items needed by the squad are not too expensive," continued Mr. LaBold, "we hope other organizations in the community will join us in purchasing equipment."

Many members of the Optimist Club have given donations to the squad, said Mr. LaBold.

"We urge others to contribute and help support the rescue squad with donations," he said.

The Feasterville Optimists also announced that John Estlow, Oakford justice of the peace, has been named a life member of the club. He becomes the second to be so honored, explained Mr. LaBold. Joseph Battaglia, past president, was the first.

'Summit' Plan

Although the Bulgarian proposal was reported to be under discussion, informed sources said the main purpose of the strategy conference was to find ways of modifying the users association plan to win more supporters.

The plan found heavy going in yesterday's session and the West sought a milder version that would win wider support. Some of this support will be sought in private talks outside the conference, the sources said.

The less belligerent approach already was having its effect on Egypt. Cairo dispatches said Egypt believed the initial session bolstered President Gamal Abdel Nasser's proposal to set up a negotiating body to settle the canal dispute.

Egyptian government sources, buoyed by dissension among the 18 nations in London for the conference, also believed the London meeting was leaning toward settlement of the dispute by direct negotiation or through the United Nations.

Dulles himself offered to drop a key point of the original plan—the use of Western pilots aboard association members' ships—"if the Egyptians insist on the employment of Egyptian pilots."

He also found time to hint that the Soviet pilots now being trained on the canal might be there for espionage purposes.

Britain, France and the United States were reported ready to scuttle the idea of collecting canal tolls now paid to Egypt, and to agree on possible future U. N. action as concessions to the doubtful delegates here.

4 Teeners Hurt In Bucks Crash

Four teenagers suffered possible skull fractures and other injuries in an accident yesterday on Passer road, north of Richlandtown.

The teenagers, who are in "fair" condition in Quakertown's Community hospital, were injured when a car in which they were riding went out of control and crashed into a utility pole.

Injured were the driver, Michael Petrohoy, 17, of Bethlehem; Angelo Grello, 17, of Bethlehem; Carol Rice, 14, and her sister Mae, 17, both of Hellertown.

State Police of the Quakertown barracks, said the Petrohoy youth was operating too fast for conditions.

HORSE THIEVES

PATERSON, N. J. — UP — Horse thieves can come out of hiding now. Passaic County Prosecutor Charles Joelson has announced that some 200 indictments will be moved for dismissal. Handed down between 1871 and 1900, they ranged from horse and chicken thefts to failure to paint a pre-paid portrait.

Stepping from the William Penn Center, Fallsington, "Peace Pilgrim" demonstrates the stride with which she walked across the United States in her "Pilgrimage for Peace." She's on a new tour, walking 100 miles in each of the 48 states. Last night she addressed the World Affairs Forum at the William Penn Center.

Month's Total Unit's Highest

The Bucks County Rescue Squad set a new record for the number of cases handled in a 30-day period, between Aug. 19 and Sept. 18, it was announced at last night's meeting of the organization.

In the period just completed the squad handled 329 cases, the highest number in the 24-year history of the group. It breaks the record of 285 cases set from mid-June to mid-July of this year.

A breakdown of the emergency calls shows that the squad's five ambulances answered 215 calls, while the oxygen Jeep went out on 76 cases. In addition the emergency lighting truck was used seven times, and 17 persons were treated at the clinic in the squad's new headquarters.

Use Private Cars

The squad also reported that on three occasions private cars were used to carry oxygen equipment to patients when all the ambulances and the jeep were on the road.

The members spent a total of 1248 hours on the road in emergency service during the 30 days.

In one of the more unusual cases handled by the group Brenda Carol Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Smith, 1213 Pennsylvania avenue, Croydon, was transported from Delaware Valley hospital to her home while in an incubator.

Ike Carries

Mr. Eisenhower has been making political statements of various lengths since his renomination, but Wednesday night's speech was his 1956 campaign debut on nationwide television and radio.

He concentrated on three central themes:

The domestic economy has improved vastly under his administration.

The effort for world peace since the Republicans took over in 1953 has been successful to the degree that "not a single nation has been surrendered to aggression."

And, in an obvious shot at the Democrats, he opposed "any theatrical national gesture" such as stopping American H-bomb tests or ending the military draft.

Mr. Eisenhower made a special point of his own health, saying he was firmly convinced of "my own physical strength to meet all the responsibilities of the presidency today, and in the years just ahead."

"I hope this conviction — this peace of mind — may bring assurance to many others, as I stand ready to serve as your president for another four years, if this be your will."

Mr. Eisenhower's formal campaign opener was no shower of political fireworks. For the most part, it was a sober-voiced appraisal of his administration program, presented as he said, "without the noise and extravagance usual during a political campaign."

Mr. Eisenhower's voice rose with emotion only during the portion of his address when he was obviously talking about the Democrats.

He gave his opponents no name advertising, but he outlined several ways not to meet the great problems facing this country.

"We cannot prove wise and strong with public speech that erroneously asserts our economic weakness," he said. "Some Democrats have claimed that the Republicans have woefully mismanaged the economy and wracked the country with high prices and bigger profits for big business."

Flower Show Will Be Held In Trevoze

"Fall Fantasy," the 13th annual autumn flower show of the Trevoze Horticultural Society begins tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the community house, Philmont avenue, Trevoze.

Tomorrow's showing will end at 10 p.m., but the event will be open Saturday — running from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Specimen flowers to be exhibited have been grown by the exhibitors, who are amateur gardeners, a spokesman for the Trevoze society explained.

Include 80 Categories

Over 80 categories will be included in the flower show, some of which are all green compositions, marine studies, arrangements for formal dinners, roses in silver containers, harvest mass arrangements, arrangements in saltcellars, dahlias, gladiolus, African Violets, roses, and many others.

This is the biggest event of the year for the Trevoze organization. Stage setting is under the direction of Snellenburgs of Willow Grove, while Fred W. Greenlee, Morrisville, is handling landscaping.

Hundreds of flower-lovers from throughout the county and surrounding area are expected to attend.

Twp. Votes To Hire Manager

'Model' Law Inspected By Officials

Commissioners Favor Strong Man With Broad Powers

The Bristol Township Board of Commissioners at a special meeting last night approved "in general" a plan to hire a township manager at a salary ranging between $9500 and $13,000.

Wayne Locke, chairman of the finance committee, who has been studying the proposal of a township manager presented a model ordinance drawn up by the International Association of Township Managers.

The "model" outlined the duties of the manager as administrator of all township business. Under the plan, which the commissioners accepted "as a starting point" the manager would supervise all municipal departments and have the power to hire and fire all personnel not under civil service.

The commissioners all seemed to favor a strong manager with broad powers. "If we are going to hire a qualified man we have to give him the proper tools to work with," several commissioners stated.

Choice Up To Board

Locke was instructed to work on drawing up the ordinance, advertise for applicants for the job and conduct preliminary interviews. The final choice of a township manager would be up to the full board of commissioners.

Locke refused to estimate how long it would take to hire a manager. "The success of this program depends on the ability of the first man we hire. We should take our time and make sure he is a good man," he said.

In other business an ordinance to approve the hiring of four civilians to operate the police radio was tabled. Several commissioners argued that the radio dispatchers should be hired under civil service regulations.

Harold Lefcourt, chairman of the Safety Committee, who proposed the move, argued that the civilians would be hired as a trial and it would be easier to drop the program if they were not covered by civil service.

"I think they should be included under civil service later on but not at first," Lefcourt said.

Commissioners Albert H. Rogers and Rudolph Kraus led the arguments for hiring the civilians immediately under civil service provisions.

Under Lefcourt's proposal the civilians would be paid $60 a week and would relieve the four patrolmen now handling the radio for street duty.

Approve Transfer

The commissioners also approved the transfer of $37,850 from various budget classifications to help meet the cost of the Croydon storm sewer now under construction and to purchase a new crane for the highway department.

Dog's Life Not So Bad, Now

The "tail" of the tiny canine urchin is not so long in length, but is long on appeal.

Tuesday morning, Sid Auerbach, an advertising man for the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times, found the whimpering youngster on his doorstep as he was taking his children to school.

Brought to the Courier and Times office, the feminine members of the staff lost their hearts to the little fellow. A collection was taken up and milk and food were provided for their guest.

His temporary home was a cardboard box, his bed was a newspaper. His obscure ancestry in question, it was generally agreed that he must surely be a "type-setter."

The wee visitor spent the day in the company of his new-found Courier and Times friends. Plans were drawn to run an advertisement for a new owner for the dog, but Mrs. Barbara Glover, society assistant, of 3465 Brownsville road, Trevose, asked that the furry creature be given to her for her three children.

Mrs. Glover said that her children, Norman, 6, Bruce, 4, and Carolyn, 3, "love the dog." Named "Tippy" in honor of his given-breed, the little dog is approximately four-weeks-old. He's black and white with just a touch of brown about the eyes and feet, Mrs. Glover said.

"He cries all night," Mrs. Glover said, "but he's worth every ear-piercing shriek his tiny voice can give."

Tippy's "foster parents," Miss Joan Nevins, society editor; Miss Sheila Griffith, display advertising; Miss Carol Bender, national advertising; and Miss Jane Gray, society assistant; all faithfully promised to visit the dog and see to it that he never has to worry about losing his home again.

Acceptable Plan For Suez Neutrals Sought By West

LONDON — UP — The Western Big Three today gave a committee of experts the task of drawing up a plan for the Suez Canal Users Association that would be acceptable to the neutral nations.

The Big Three called back the original blueprint as a result of the critical reaction the plan received at Wednesday's opening session of the 18-member second London Suez conference.

Britain simultaneously gave an official cold shoulder to Soviet feelers for a Suez "summit" conference of the Big Four heads of state and the rulers of Egypt and India.

"Our attitude is that we are at present concerned with one conference in London and we propose to continue to do so," a Foreign Office spokesman said.

The decision to withdraw the original plan apparently was taken at a meeting this morning of the Big Three foreign ministers before this morning's 55-minute Suez conference began.

Penn Valley School Route Fight Erupts

Willowood Parents In Controversy With Falls Board

A controversy over the shortest route for pupils to the Penn Valley Elementary school erupted last night at the Penn Valley Parent-Teacher Association meeting. Parents are arguing the merits of one route against an alternate route suggested by the Falls Township Board of Supervisors.

Irate parents of the Willowood section of Levittown, claiming their children have to walk to school in the street, were told of the alternate route by Supervisor Elder Hacker. He claimed the alternate route is only 12 feet longer than along Mill Creek parkway. As Hacker pointed out, the walking route via the parkway is approximately 3,190 feet. But by using the route from Willowood Drive to Elderberry lane, then on Easter lane and back to Elderberry lane, a distance of 3,202 feet, the children could (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

Money Sought For Boost In Recreation

The Bucks County Park Board Monday night recommended that up to $15,000 of its funds be used to help Bristol borough and township improve the Silver Lake shores as a badly-needed recreation area for Lower Bucks County.

The funds must be approved by the Bucks County Commissioners. Park Board Chairman William F. Taylor said today. They would be given on an equal basis with borough and township funds, subject to approval of the plans by both county boards.

The borough and township are expected to match the county's offer up to $15,000.

He said the money would not be used to clean up the pollution, when he termed a State Health Department problem, but to create recreation facilities at the lake. The board will discuss the plan further at a meeting in Doylestown Monday night.

"I want to assure the people of the Bristol area that the Park Board is ready to help them build a good recreation area," Mr. Taylor said in announcing his board's action. "In my personal opinion, the Park Board should aid local communities whenever it is able to do so. Silver Lake is used today, and therefore it should be made a better place for recreation."

Plan County Park

The Park Board, with borough and township officials, since last Spring have been discussing a plan to create a vast County Park in the Silver Lake area, possibly extending up the Mill Creek Valley, a plan recommended by editorial comment in the Bristol Courier and Levittown Times.

Russell VanNest Black, planning consultant, was hired by the Park Board to map out a proposed park, and concluded that the project would not be practical. However, some members of the Board, and local officials still maintain the park should be made.

The Bucks County Commissioners this summer directed the County Health Department to trace the sources of pollution which has made the lake unsafe for swimming, and take action to stop the impurities.

Chairman John T. Welsh, of the County Commissioners, today said he has not yet been notified of the resolution adopted by the Park Board last night. But he said there are "still many legal questions to be answered" before the appropriation can be approved.

Ike Carries Farm Battle To Midwest

President Campaigns In Iowa On Record Of Prosperity

WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower carried his reelection fight into the crucial mid-west farm belt today. He opened his nationwide campaign here last night on a Republican record of "progress without precedent."

Mr. Eisenhower will spend this afternoon and most of tomorrow in Iowa, following up on his belief that government policies to meet farm problems must be tailored to peacetime conditions and "not the policies of the past that applied only to the demands of wartime."

Three Central Themes

The Chief Executive and the First Lady were scheduled to leave by plane this afternoon for Des Moines. A motorcade will take them to Boone, where they will spend the night in the house once occupied by Mrs. Eisenhower's grandmother and father. The Boone home is now the residence of Mrs. Eisenhower's uncle, Joel Carlson.

The president tomorrow will attend the national plowing contest at Newton, Iowa. He planned to make a speech at the Des Moines Airport during the late afternoon (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Good Evening!

Draft, H-Bomb tests must continue, says the President.

And, he continues, there'll be no theatrical national gestures about this matter of life or death of a nation and the man's positively right.

Just one thing we don't want this political campaign to do. That is to weaken public confidence in national defense, or shatter world confidence in America's capacity to continue global leadership backed up by what it takes—armed strength.

Dodgers ahead again as they clobber the Cards 17-2 and the fabulous Newcombe wins his 25th.

You can say one thing: Brooklyn and the Braves are keeping baseball interest high even as the pigskins begin flying around the countryside.

Football weather all but here, incidentally, with autumn breathing down our necks and all ready to make its official debut Sunday.

Tonight? A full moon and frost on the mountain peaks. Chilly but pretty combination, come to think of it.

Navy decides to scuttle rock 'n roll after that simple riot at the Newport, R. I., enlisted men's club.

We wish the whole country would scuttle the sickening noise pronto. It makes you shiver to contemplate the low estate to which musical taste—and cultural taste—is falling.

Maybe TV, radio and the record companies should start a bit of self-disciplining and with it a campaign for a return to a standard of good taste. They don't HAVE TO CATER to the gutter instincts of the morose fringe.

Twp. Again Rejects Bid By Builders

Plans For Homes In Laurel Bend Disapproved, 9-0

By GORDON PARKER, Courier and Times Staff Writer

On top of their past troubles with faulty sewage systems and irate home buyers, Bertram Rudy and August J. Hertiwig, builders of Broadway Manor and Laurel Bend, Bristol Township, were stymied last night by a yet-to-be-passed law.

The builders, who received widespread publicity when four women picketing Laurel Bend were arrested and committed to prison last month, asked the township Board of Commissioners last night to approve sub-division plans for 68 more homes in the development.

And for the second straight week the commissioners refused to approve the plans. The board voted 9-0, with two members who worked on the projects, not voting, to hold up approval of all new sub-division plans until a new ordinance regulating subdivisions is passed. The ordinance is now being drawn up.

500 Picket The Press

Between 75 and 100 union men began "around the clock" picketing of the Levittown Press today following an early-morning mass demonstration of an estimated 500 persons.

Walter Barner, head of the striking printers members of Local 71, International Typographical Union, said the union "intends to keep picketing 24 hours a day."

At the same time he thanked members of a number of industrial and printing unions from Trenton, N.J., Philadelphia, Morrisville, Pa., and other nearby points for helping in today's mass demonstration and for assisting the 21 striking printers in maintaining the enlarged picket line.

The Tullytown police force led by Chief John Walterick was on hand to maintain order.

The printers have been out on strike since Aug. 13 in a contract dispute. The union charges a lockout.

A spokesman for the Press said the paper had asked for protection. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

Twp. Violators Get A Break

Motorists who park their cars illegally got a break from the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners last night.

The board adopted a new policy where motorists with parking tickets can pay a $2 fine at the township building within 48 hours.

Under the old system the cases were handled by a justice of the peace and $5 costs added to the fine.

Commissioner Harold Lefcourt, chairman of the Safety Committee, who recommended the new system said it "seems unfair that motorists have to pay $7 or more for a $2 ticket."

If motorists fail to pay the fine within 48 hours the case will then be referred to a justice of the peace and the motorist can have a hearing if he wishes.

Rescue Squad Sets Record For Month

The Bucks County Rescue Squad set a new record for the number of cases handled in a 30-day period, between Aug. 19 and Sept. 18, it was announced at last night's meeting of the organization.

In the period just completed the squad handled 329 cases, the highest number in the 24-year history of the group. It breaks the record of 285 cases set from mid-June to mid-July of this year.

A breakdown of the emergency calls shows that the squad's five ambulances answered 215 calls, while the oxygen Jeep went out on 76 cases. In addition the emergency lighting truck was used seven-times, and 17 persons were treated at the clinic in the squad's new headquarters.

Use Private Cars
The squad also reported that on three occasions private cars were used to carry oxygen equipment to patients when all the ambulances and the jeep were on the road.

The members spent a total of 1248 hours on the road in emergency service during the 30 days. In one of the more unusual cases handled by the group Brenda Carol Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon E. Smith, 1213 Pennsylvania avenue, Croydon, was transported from Delaware Valley hospital to her home while in an incubator.

4 Teeners Hurt In Bucks Crash

Four teenagers suffered possible skull fractures and other injuries in an accident yesterday on Passer road, north of Richlandtown.

The teenagers, who are in "fair" condition in Quakertown's Community hospital, were injured when a car in which they were riding went out of control and crashed into a utility pole. Injured were the driver, Michael Petrohoy, 17, of Bethlehem; Angelo Grello, 17, of Bethlehem; Carol Rice, 14, and her sister Mae, 17, both of Hellertown. State Police of the Quakertown barracks, said the Petrohoy youth was operating too fast for conditions.

Classes Disrupted By Faulty Valve

A faulty pressure valve disrupted the class schedule at the Ne-shaminy junior and senior high schools yesterday and Tuesday. Classes were resumed at noon yesterday after the two schools were closed at noon Tuesday when a toilet overflowed and four inches of water flooded the boiler room.

SAFER TRESPASSING
NEW YORK—UP—Trespassing on railroad property was safer last year than ever before. Trains killed only one unauthorized track walker for every million locomotive miles.

21-Year-Old Levittowner Speaks Out On Sex Trend

A Levittown boy, 21-year-old Ronald K. Holliday of 1 Dubarry lane, speaks out against the modern trend toward the commercialization of sex. "There definitely is an overemphasis on physical sex and not enough emphasis on the other things that make up love," he says.

He voices his opinion at a round-table forum reported in the October Ladies' Home Journal. The topic, "Do Americans Commercialize Sex?" was discussed by a representative group including two mothers and four college students, including Ron Holliday, who has just graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and will be attending law school this fall.

He agrees that sex suggestive-ness apparently sells but brakes should be put on. He says, "You put people in an empty room, one by one. The more people get in that room, the louder you have to talk to be heard. This is what has happened. Sex is what they are screaming because they think that the louder they scream sex, the more money they'll make. And they won't stop until somebody puts some public pressure on them."

He adds, "To me, one of the greatest contributing factors to the problem is that we are living in a materialistic society. So we are blasé to the simple things which used to provide us with excitement and fun. We have a car, we can go anywhere we want to go. We have movies, we have television, we can do anything we want to. So we are seeking new thrills and we turn to the supreme thrill — sex."

Responsibility of Leaders
He points out that "young people of 12, 13 and 14 who really need answers won't discuss their sex problems with a minister — they want to find their confidants at home, in their parents." But he believes "it is also the responsibility of the leaders in the field of communications to carry on such education too — to set up higher standards of conduct for everybody."

Student Holliday received his B.A. degree in journalism in June. At Penn, he was in the

Steel Union Backs Adlai

LOS ANGELES — UP — Adlai Stevenson today had the support of the United Steelworkers of America in campaigning for the nation's highest office.

The union at its annual convention yesterday adopted a resolution to concur in the action of the AFL-CIO Executive Council in backing the Democratic ticket of Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

The resolution, which cited the union's traditional policy of political non-partisanship, was adopted by acclamation. It stated:

"On the basis of the record, without endorsing either political party and in conformity with our traditional nonpartisan policy, we concur in the action of the executive council and the general board of the AFL-CIO in endorsing Adlai Stevenson for president and Estes Kefauver for vice president."

The action came shortly after Stevenson spoke to the 3000 delegates by telephone from Washington. The Democratic presidential nominee opened his message by saying "I ask your help to win."

Hood Named To Tax Group

HARRISBURG — UP — Gov. George M. Leader today announced the appointment of Clifford F. Hood, president of the U. S. Steel Corp., as a member of Pennsylvania's Tax Study Commission.

The governor said that Hood will replace Benjamin F. Fairless, former chairman of U.S. Steel, who recently submitted his resignation from the commission to become chairman of the Citizens Committee on Foreign Aid recently created by President Eisenhower.

"I am very sorry to lose the services of Mr. Fairless, but very happy to find as his successor such an outstanding industrialist," Leader said.

The governor said that Hood's appointment would maintain the bipartisan makeup of the commission with seven Republicans and seven Democrats.

Seeing Levittown

By JIM ORT

Levittown tots apparently are pleased about going to school. A group of youngsters on Old Spruce lane, Oaktree, after coming home from a long day at St. Michael the Archangel school, were playing of all things, "school," on a neighbor's patio.

Everybody today seems to want to do anything they can to combat juvenile delinquency and help our young ones. But what happened the other day when one of the Little Leagues couldn't get a bit of cooperation from a group of township commissioners when it needed buses to take the kids to Philadelphia for a major league ball game?

According to lumber stores in the area the big thing this winter will be the paneling of walls in Levittown. Second popular seems to be room dividers.

Salesmen in local magazine stores affirm that Levittowners like to read about themselves. Whenever a magazine has an article about Levittown it sells well.

Crowd that turned out for Levittown Players open house at Fallsington Library Tuesday night had an unexpected treat when a group of Players put on an original one-act patriotic play written by Mrs. Clyde F. Brown.

Group Against Road Plan

The Fairfield Terrace Civic Association of Lower Makefield Township, went on record today as opposing the announced plan of the Pennsylvania Highway department to extend Route 13 to the Yardley - Morrisville road by entering the road at Pine Grove road.

The association resolved that the group urge the Highway Department to reconsider the location of Route 13, and to find an alternate route by-passing Yardley-Morrisville road west of Yardley, thereby avoiding congestion, traffic bottle-necks and excessive condemnation expense.

The association further resolved that the officers of the organization notify the Makefield Civic Association, the Bucks County Planning Board, the Pennsylvania Highway Department, governmental representatives, of this action urging them to make every effort to relocate Route 13.

The resolution was drawn at the unit's meeting Monday night. The association is made up of families in 40 homes located on the Yardley-Morrisville road.

A protest meeting of Lower Makefield Township civic organizations will be held tonight with the Township Planning Commission to hear details of the state's proposed extension of the Route 13 freeway.

The groups are expected to protest the road on the grounds that it would overburden township roads and lower property values.

'Summit' Plan

to Egypt. Several other nations were doubtful about it and such shipping countries as Norway, Sweden, and Denmark suggested the whole issue go to the United Nations.

The original plan called for an association which would have its own pilots and move its own ships through the Suez Canal independently of Egypt and Egyptian occupation of the canal facilities.

Opposition came at once and the West began toning it down.

Egypt declared it was an "association for war." Western pilots called it impracticable. The Scandinavian countries expressed serious doubts it would work. Opposition was so great the West feared its stand against Egypt would be weakened.

School Route

reach the rear entrance of the school.

Residents of the area claim the route along Elderberry drive is nearly twice as long, as along Mill Creek parkway.

Numbers Vary

Another point not clearly agreed on by both sides is the actual number of children using the route. Police, who had been stationed along the new route to inform and guide the youngsters, reported only an average of 16 children per day using it.

A house-to-house survey taken in the area by residents shows 35 to 40 youngsters attending the school.

The difference in the number of children may be explained by the fact that many of the parents take them to school in private automobiles.

Hacker also noted that in the near future sidewalk will be laid on a 45-foot cut-through from Willowood drive to Elderberry lane.

School crossing signs will also be erected.

Hacker said, "a child by walking to school through Elderberry lane would not be exposed to any more danger than any other school child walking to school in Falls Township."

Mother Speaks Up

One of those attending the meeting, Mrs. John Walker, 267 Willow drive stated, "We are taxpayers, too, and 10 families on Willow drive who pay taxes, could pay for the sidewalk and that would not effect anyone's budget. After all, we lived here four years and we never got anything special out of it and we never asked for anything special. Is Mr. Hacker so confident that no one will get hurt crossing this dangerous intersection that he, in case an accident should occur, will take the full blame with his signs? After all, you can't bring back a child's life after it is destroyed."

The actual point in question is the fact that last April a committee of the PTA asked the supervisors to construct 1,165 feet of sidewalk along Mill Creek parkway from Willowood drive to North Park place to keep children off the street on their way to school.

Would Cost $2,900
The Board of Supervisors will erect this sidewalk if it is the desire of the majority of parents in the section, declared Hacker. The cost would be approximately $2,900.

Youth Aids L'town Squad

The treasury of the Levittown Emergency Squad is richer by $5.05 today through the efforts of an eight-and-a-half year-old Indian Creek boy.

Barry Lee Elferman, of 65 Ironwood road, presented the squad with that sum last night. It represents the net profit of over a month's hard work selling coolade, toys, comic books and from several circuses.

Barry has gone out every day since the end of July, when he presented the squad with another sum of money, pulling his wagon and selling his drinks. There was a sign on the wagon "Help the Levittown Emergency Squad."

The $5.05 represents net profit of the sales after he paid for the cost of the ingredients and cups.

Ready to Sound

Bristol Borough Fire Chief Clifford Hagerman tests the equipment that will sound the whistle Saturday for Mill Street's "Beat the Clock" Contest. The Mill Street merchants are offering prizes to people who guess the correct time when the whistle will sound. "Beat the Clock" days are Thursday, Friday and Saturday on Mill Street.

Building Plans Rejected 2nd Time

who charged that Rudy and Hertwig had not lived up to "their obligations."

Kehoe said after complaints from residents of Broadway Manor and Laurel Bend, the builders had promised to make certain repairs. But Kehoe added the repairs were either unsatisfactory or not made. "I don't think we should allow these men to do any more building until they show they can live up to their obligations."

The builders had presented their plans at the regular commissioners' meeting last week but a number of residents from both communities protested conditions around their homes. The commissioners delayed approval of the plans and a committee, with Kehoe as chairman, was appointed to investigate the complaints.

Last night Kehoe stated that the builders had told the committee they would lower a drainage ditch by about two feet but instead had made it 10 to 14 feet deep.

Pump Not Hooked Up

Also Kehoe said a permanent pump at a sewage pumping station had not been hooked up as of last Sunday despite promises of the builders that it would be.

He was joined by Commissioner Albert H. Rogers who said he was not satisfied with the improvements at Broadway Manor. Last month Broadway residents had complained that their septic tanks were overflowing and toilets backing up because of improper drainage. It was because of these complaints that the residents picketed Laurel Bend. The picketing ended when the builders had four women arrested, who were held overnight in the county prison when they were unable to raise $500 bail.

The builders and residents reached an agreement under which the drainage complaints would be corrected. Workmen have been adding additional drain fields and making other changes since then.

At Township's Request

In answer to Kehoe's charges Rudy said the ditch was dug at the township's request and according to township's specifications.

Elbert Kohli, chairman of the subdivision committee, said it was unnecessary to hold up approval of the plans until the new ordinance is passed. He said most of the conditions stated in the law would be covered in the contract between the builders and township.

Commissioner Kohli admitted that he did the electrical work, under a sub-contract on both the Broadway Manor and Laurel Bend developments. "A man has a right to earn a living and if we hold up these builders a lot of township residents will be without a job," Kohli said.

In the end Kohli voted with the rest of the group to delay approval of the plans. Commissioners Rudolph Kraus, who laid the streets in both developments, and James T. Dunlavey, an employee of Kohli's who worked in both projects, abstained from voting.

White House Eases Homebuilding Laws

WASHINGTON — UP — The White House today announced four new government actions to strengthen the homebuilding industry and make it easier to buy low cost homes.

The action was by government home financing agencies in response to President Eisenhower's request for a review of housing credit needs in the United States. The four new actions were:

1. The Federal Housing Administration reduced minimum down payment on homes appraised at $9,000 or less from seven to five per cent of value. An administration action of July, 1955, boosted the payments on such homes from five to seven per cent of value. Current down payment requirements remain for FHA home loans above $9,000. Under the new action, buyers of low-cost homes will pay about $100 less in down payment.

500 Picket

tion from state and Bucks County police.

John Stevenson, 27, of 350 Harrison street, Bristol, a picket filed assault and battery by automobile charges against James J. Maloney, Jr., of 14 Mackintosh road, Levittown, a pressman.

Stevenson claims that Maloney ran over his left foot with his car as he entered the plant 8 a.m. today. Stevenson was taken to Lower Bucks County Hospital where X-rays were taken. The X-rays showed no injury.

Constable Ray Fate entered the Evening Press building to serve the warrant on Maloney around noon today but couldn't find him.

Earlier he had served a warrant on Paul V. Boos, of 7 Clover lane, Levittown, comptroller of the firm, on a charge of assault and battery. The charge was sworn out by Joseph Ershum, of 19 Overbrook drive, who said Boos tore his clothes as he walked through the picket lines this morning.

Boos was committed to Bristol Borough jail to wait a hearing before JP Earl B. Dougherty, of Edgely.

Sheriff Murray and his deputy, Lovedon Harrison, entered the plant and stayed for over an hour. He wouldn't say what he was doing when he came out, however.

Constable Malcolm MacKenzie arrested Frank Shields, Pineville road, Wycombe, advertising manager, on a charge of disorderly conduct filed by Roy Stanley, of 111 Kenwood drive, North Levittown. JP James Parto issued the warrant.

Shields protested the arrest. He said "I'm an executive of this firm. My position is inside the plant. I tried peacefully to enter in an orderly manner and was blocked."

2. Sellers of home mortgages to the Federal National Mortgage Association must buy the association's stock at only one per cent of value of mortgages sold. The stock purchase requirement, already lowered from three to two per cent Aug. 9, is now reduced to the legal minimum. Thus cash proceeds from mortgage sales to FNMA "secondary market" will be increased, providing more funds to homebuilders and buyers.

3. The FNMA will issue advance commitments to buy home mortgages at prices more favorable to the seller. These ease advance construction planning by assuring builders they can place mortgages with FNMA if they cannot obtain satisfactory financing elsewhere. FNMA will buy mortgages at 94 per cent under the new action, instead of the previous 92 per cent.

4. The Federal Home Loan Bank Board relaxed its rule limiting ordinary borrowings of member institutions of the home loan bank system to 10 per cent of their share capital. This limitation was raised to 12½ per cent "to improve the capacity of local home-financing institutions to meet the demand for sound home mortgage loans."

Morrisville Well To Get Trial Run

The Borough well in Morrisville will be put back into operation for a 30-day trial.

That was the decision of the Borough Council's water committee meeting last night, Borough Secretary Bob Steward said.

The water will be run back into the system from the well, and a chemical analysis of the water will be made daily, along with a complete record of every phase of the operation, Mr. Steward said.
